

PVG & PEK

We did receive a copy of a letter from management addressed to the crews operating PVG and PEK, asking Service Directors to do their pre-flight briefing while in the crew bus. The Union's position is clear- on all flights departing PVG and PEK, your duty period starts exactly 60 minutes prior flight departure. You have no obligation to complete your pre-flight briefing before your duty period begins. It is dangerous to be standing in the bus while it is moving and dangerous to not be wearing a seat belt. During the briefing we cover extremely sensitive matters which are considered confidential that should not be divulged in front of the driver. If you are pressured to complete the briefing on the bus, please send a report with all the details and the managers name to office@local4092.ca.
