Reassignment Refresher

With winter weather on the horizon, reassignment is in the air! Reassignment is covered under Article B6 and B10 of the Collective Agreement. If you are aware of the reassignment in advance, the expectation is that you call in the night prior to receive your new assignment. Reassignment is for the original calendar days of your pairing and for the entire 24 hour calendar day. There is no obligation on the part of scheduling to reassign you to a new pairing that departs or arrives at the same time as your originally scheduled pairing. Furthermore, while you will be paid at least the value of your originally scheduled pairing, crew scheduling may assign you up to the monthly maximum limitation, which is 85 hours for December. If your reassignment happens mid pairing, you may be assigned a 1 hour standby at home base or 2 hours away from base. In addition, if away from base, you may be assigned to operate or deadhead on a flight back to home base on a day not originally scheduled in your block, if no other options to exist to bring you home. If you are assigned to deadhead, but then are required to operate, it is not considered a draft. Feel free to bring any other questions or concerns to us at the local!

Santa's Alternate Delivery Dates

We know that being away for the holiday can be challenging for families with younger children who may not understand why a parent or loved one cannot be there. Please click here for a customizable "Alternate Delivery Date" letter from Santa.

Mobilizing for the New Year

Thinking about a New Year's resolution? How about participating in your Union? Our Collective Agreement will expire in 2025 and in the run up to negotiations, we will be
